The Honorable John R. Kasich
House of Representatives

Dear Mr. Kasich:

Your September 10, 1985, letter requested that we investigate the magnitude of privately, publicly, and foreign held debt owed to the federal government and audit current collection methods to determine their effectiveness. The appendixes which follow respond in part to your request.

Your letter specifically asked us to determine the total amount of past due debts owed the government, including all foreign government obligations. Appendix I shows that the total amount owed the government as of June 30, 1985, was about $444.5 billion and that about $64.6 billion was classified by agencies as delinquent. The schedule includes information for all major departments and agencies. Foreign government debts have been incorporated in these overall figures and are reflected primarily in amounts owed to the Export-Import Bank, the Departments of Agriculture and Defense, and the Agency for International Development.

You also inquired as to how the total overdue debt is categorized by amount and delinquency rate among federal programs and foreign countries. Appendix II shows information by program, or in some cases by agency, on debts owed to each major department and independent agency. We are providing amounts for June 30, 1985, for accounts receivable due within 12 months and related delinquencies, loans receivable and related delinquencies, and other receivables. The other receivables category includes those accounts receivable that will become due 12 months or more after the reporting period.

In order to facilitate gathering this information as quickly as possible, we did not develop information for programs or agencies for which the total debt was less than $1 million. This accounts for any difference between total debts for a particular department or agency shown in appendix I and details for the same department or agency shown in appendix II.

Appendix II is annotated to briefly describe the nature of the programs or agencies which have delinquent receivables exceeding $10 million. Foreign countries that owed large delinquent debts are identified in these annotations.

The basic receivable data presented in the appendixes are amounts agencies reported to the Department of the Treasury. The annotated descriptions, and amounts included therein, are based primarily on discussion with agency representatives. We did not independently verify this information or trace it to source documents. We have found past instances where the underlying data and systems have problems which impact the reliability of agency financial reports.

Your September 10, 1985, letter asked us to review agencies' success in implementing the Debt Collection Act of 1982, as well as whether private collection agencies can be better utilized and the feasibility of selling debt portfolios to the private sector. As we discussed during our September 26, 1985, meeting, these matters are being included as part of our ongoing governmentwide review of agencies' efforts to implement the act at the request of Senator Dennis DeConcini. As we agreed, the results of that review, which is to be concluded in February 1986, will respond to your request in these areas.

Unless you publicly announce the contents of this document earlier, we plan no further distribution until 5 days from the date of this letter. At that time, we will send the report to interested parties and make copies available to others upon request. If there are any questions regarding the contents of this document call me on (202) 275-9490.

Sincerely yours,

John F. Simonette
Associate Director

- a - Farmers' insurance premiums owed to the corporation for crop insurance against losses due to natural disasters.
- b - $95 million in "state office claims" -county office level loans to farmers. Highest receivables are in South Dakota, Ohio, Virginia, Wisconsin, and Texas. $50 million in "other claims," including $27 million in claims against grain warehouse companies, and $18 million for transportation losses on commodities going overseas.
- c - Includes $441.6 million for export credit sales. Major components are Poland - $390 million, Morocco - $11 million, and Peru - $16 million. Also, Public Law 480 low interest loans to finance commodity shipments to "third world" countries totaling $70 million. Iran, Cambodia, and Vietnam make up about 75 percent of the $70 million.
- d - About 90 percent of the accounts receivable represent interest due within one year on the loans. The loans are for various farm programs, including operating loans, emergency loans, farm ownership loans, economic emergency loans, etc. About 457,000 borrowers. Most loans are to individual farmers. The contingent loans are those loans which were sold to the Federal Financing Bank and are delinquent and recorded on Agriculture's accounts.
- e - Represents interest on loans to about 16,100 borrowers. Borrowers are associations, co-ops, and state or local governments. Loans are primarily for sewers and water and waste systems.
- f - Primarily individual mortgages and some association loans. About 1 million borrowers. Accounts receivable are largely interest on loans. Contingencies are loans which were sold to the Federal Financing Bank and are delinquent and recorded on Agriculture's accounts.
- g - Includes food stamps - $259 million and child nutrition - $4 million.
- h - $107.8 million is in the trust deposit and receipt accounts. It includes defaulted timber sales and trespass - related forest fire claims against individuals. Forest Service Region VI in the Oregon and Washington state area has $62 million, and Region V in the California area has $37 million.
- i - This largely represents principal and interest on defaulted guaranteed loans. Two debtors make up the bulk of the delinquent debt. One debtor owes $1.1 billion, which includes $55 million in interest. This case has been referred to the Department of Justice. Another debtor owes $27 million for interest, and is in Chapter 11 bankruptcy.

a - Represents accrued interest receivable on loan guarantees.

b - Provides credit assistance to eligible veterans, active duty service persons, and certain surviving spouses seeking to buy, build, or repair a home, condominium or mobile home. VA picks up the guaranty on loans if the veteran or active duty individual has defaulted (104,348 delinquent loans).

c - Provides loans to veterans, active duty service personnel, and certain surviving spouses, in rural areas where the availability of private mortgage funds is limited. The loan could be used to purchase or repair the beneficiary's home or farm residence. $33,000 is the maximum loan amount per individual. Thousands of debtors.

- d - Loans to post-vietnam veterans who have 10 years after military discharge to use entitlement benefits. Also used for flight training enrollments. This fund finances loans up to $2,500 per academic period for eligible veterans and dependents (43,142 delinquent loans).
- e - Provides for the payment of readjustment and rehabilitation benefits, and the funding of an educational loan program. (veterans, active duty personnel, and dependents from February 1955 through December 1976 were eligible for these benefits). This fund is made up of overpayments to those individuals (901,100 debtors).
- f - Provides for the payment of compensation to veterans and their dependents due to veterans having suffered impairment of earnings power from service connected disabilities.
- g - Persons treated in veterans hospitals on an emergency basis owing debts because they may not have had medical insurance and may not have been on active duty. There are thousands of debtors.

- a - Overpayments and refunds of audit exceptions. Most of the receivables are being litigated.
- b - Represents disaster relief assistance to states, municipalities, and individuals due to disasters such as hurricanes, fires, and hazardous material leaks. Largest debtors are Puerto Rico - $19 million and Love Canal, New York - $7 million. There are also a very few small delinquent receivables totaling under $1 million.
- c - Homeowner's mortgage loans taken over by government. Most of this amount involves four associations.
- d - Represents U.S. companies that establish foreign country businesses with OPIC loan assistance. Six companies make up $11.2 million of this amount.
- e - The accounts receivable result from overpayments and erroneous payments for unemployment, sickness insurance, and survivor benefits, and retirement annuities. Approximately 27,000 delinquent individuals.
- f - About $25 million was for a bankrupt power consumer. This was paid off in September 1985 in a court award in favor of the government plus an additional $8 million that was previously written off. Balance is largely wholesalers and retailers of electric power which supply the Department of Energy at Paducah, Kentucky and Oak Ridge, Tennessee and claims involving contractor construction of power generating or transmitting facilities.
- g - The delinquent receivables consist of debts from bulk mailers, companies, employee salary advances, travel advances and miscellaneous receivables.
